FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

9. For many years J.B. International has had a business relationship with WNRJ and Noble in which J.B. International consigns diamonds and diamond jewelry to WNRJ and Noble.

10. In April of 2019 and June of 2019, J.B. International consigned diamonds and diamond jewelry to Noble and WNRJ. As is common in a consignment, the diamonds and diamond jewelry were provided to Noble and WNRJ to sell and they were required to either return the diamonds and diamond jewelry that was consigned to them under the Memorandums or pay J.B. International the value of diamonds sold after the diamonds were sold. Copies of the Memorandums reflecting those consignments are attached hereto as Exhibit 1. When an item is reported sold then J.B. International issues an invoice for the value of the item,

11. Per the terms of the Memorandums, the diamonds remained the property of J.B. International and were required to be returned on demand and until the diamonds were returned Noble and WNRJ were fully and personally responsible for them and, in the event of damage or loss, Noble and WNRJ would indemnify J.B. International by payment immediately of the stated value reflected on the memorandum which was meant to represent the extent of actual loss.

12. Noble and WNRJ reported some items that were consigned under the April 2019 and June 2019 Memorandums had been sold and Invoices were issued by J.B. International. Some of those invoices have not paid by Noble and WNRJ. A copy of such invoices are attached hereto as Exhibit 2.

13. When Noble and WNRJ did not return the diamonds that were consigned under the April 2019 and June 2019 Memorandums and had not paid for items reported sold despite Invoices being issued, in August of 2019, WNRJ and Noble, jointly and severally, entered into a Letter Agreement with J.B. International under which they agreed to pay a total of $959,942.24 in accordance with an installment payment schedule that required payments be made monthly starting in August of 2019. A copy of the Letter Agreement is attached hereto as Exhibit 3.

14. Pursuant to the Letter Agreement, failure to make any of the installment payments on the dates and in the amounts provided would constitute a material breach of the Letter Agreement, allowing acceleration of all unpaid installments and seek immediate recovery thereof, including attorney's fees incurred related to the enforcement of the Letter Agreement

15. WNRJ and Noble breached the Agreement starting with the November 15, 2019 installment payment when WNRJ and Noble began making payments in amounts less than required by the Letter Agreement and then subsequently stopped making payments altogether.

16. WNRJ and Noble were notified that they breached the Letter Agreement in March of 2022, but, to date, the breach has still not been cured.

17. On January 3, 2020, after the Letter Agreement was entered into, J.B. International again consigned diamonds and diamond jewelry to WNRJ and Noble pursuant to a Memorandum (the “January Memorandum”). A copy of the January Memorandum is attached as Exhibit 4

18. The January Memorandum had the same terms as the previous Memorandums. The diamonds and diamond jewelry remained the property of J.B. International, were required to be returned on demand and until the consigned items were returned Noble and WNRJ were fully and personally responsible for them and, in the event of damage or loss, Noble and WNRJ would indemnify J.B. International by payment immediately of the stated value reflected on the Memorandum which represents the extent of actual loss.

19. The January Memorandum contained the additional term that value of the items reflected in the Memorandum would be “paid immediately if sold.”

20. Certain items consigned under the January Memorandum were reported sold and invoices were issued, but the invoices were not paid. Copies of the unpaid invoices are attached as Exhibit 5.

21. The other items consigned under the January Memorandum have not been returned despite demand for the items being made and the value of those items have not been paid to J.B. International.

22. To date, $476,783.80 is due and owing on the open April 2019, June 2019 and January 2020 Memorandums, $286,593.85 of which is due and owing under the Letter Agreement.

23. To date, there is a total of $194,057.46 due and owing on the open Invoices, plus interest at a rate of 1% per month from the date each Invoice was due to the present, $191,641.30 of which is due and owing under the Letter Agreement.
